KIWI-TEK™
The Coding Authority

Remote Coder Job Description

KIWI-TEK is the fast growing, remote coding service in the country. Our clients love our services because of our excellent management team, in addition to the outstanding quality and experience of our coders. Due to our accelerated growth, we have immediate openings.

We have numerous options for remote coding designed to fit your personal needs and schedule:

- All of our coders work from home
- You can work a schedule that best fits your lifestyle and personal needs
- We will provide all of the training that you need to perform accurately and efficiently
- We will provide tech support to ensure that you do not have any connectivity issues
- You will receive feedback on your performance so that you can maintain high quality standards
- You will receive a long-term assignment and steady work so that you can maximize your earnings
- Part time and full time positions are available
- As a full time coder, you will be eligible for our benefits package
- Your assignment will be matched up with your experience and expertise to ensure that you are comfortable with your work

BENEFITS

- Highest reimbursement in the industry
- Excellent benefits package for full-time coders
- Extremely flexible schedules
- All training provided, including ICD-10, at no cost to you
- Tech support to ensure quality connectivity
- Frequent constructive feedback
- Career advancement into management available and encouraged

We require certification from AHIMA or AAPC and a minimum of three years' experience coding for a hospital or professional facility. You must have your own PC, high-speed Internet connection and email address.

If you are interested and you meet our qualifications, please e-mail your updated resume to shumbert@kiwi-tek.com or fax to (317) 571-3443.

You can also apply online at https://www.kiwi-tek.com/careers/